- Just two wires for audio and two wires for video
- All Aiphone kits are backed by a 3 Year Warranty as standard

GT Kits

The GT system is a flexible and easy to use video intercom system for small multi-tenant buildings to large private housing developments.

It has also proved to be popular with installers looking for a cost effective and aesthetically attractive solution for commercial buildings, education campuses and healthcare environments.

Supporting up to 500 video intercom stations, the GT system offers handset and hands-free communication with up to 4 security guard stations and 16 entry panels, which are equipped with 170 degree PTZ cameras to enable tenants to have clear visibility of visitors.

With a recently upgraded camera unit and new monitor stations that take advantage of the clearer picture, the GT is now available in a number of competitively priced kits, enabling you to match different types and number of stations to your individual project requirements.

Unlike competitors' products where the number of wired required increases depending on the number of door stations, GT system only requires 2 wires for audio and 2 wires for video, regardless of the number of stations.
